

Wayne Cashman's 1970 and 1972 Boston Bruins Stanley Cup Rings at Auction

Auction Ends October 30, 2012

Delson, Quebec, Canada – October 12, 2012 – The Big, Bad Bruins of Bobby Orr and Phil Esposito dominated the NHL in the early 1970s. Wayne Cashman was an integral part of the Bruins' two Stanley Cup titles in 1970 and 1972, doggedly working the corners to feed Espo's goal-scoring exploits.

Cash's two Bruins Stanley Cup rings are featured among the 38 lots from his personal collection that are currently up for auction. Also included are Wayne's 1970 Bruins Stanley Cup finals game-worn jersey, his 1970 and 1972 personal Stanley Cup trophies, three Prince of Wales trophies, and a variety of memorabilia from his Bruins career, as well as his items from Cash's stellar junior career, the 1972 Canada-Russia series and his coaching days.

Established since 1995, Classic Auctions is the historical hockey memorabilia auction industry leader. Legends such as Maurice "Rocket" Richard, Bobby Hull, Jean Beliveau, Frank Mahovlich, Johnny Bucyk, Henri Richard, Yvan Cournoyer, Darryl Sittler, Gilbert Perreault, Guy Lafleur, Marcel Dionne and Bryan Trottier are just a few of the numerous members of the Hockey Hall of Fame who have entrusted us with the sale at auction of their personal collections.

Our record-obliterating $1.275 million sale at auction of Paul Henderson's 1972 Team Canada "The Goal" game-worn jersey demonstrates the incredibly powerful emotional and patriotic attachment these treasures illicit from historical international hockey memorabilia collectors.

In addition to the amazing Henderson jersey auction record, we also currently hold the record for the top prices obtained for a Stanley Cup ring (1961 Bobby Hull - $85,000), game-used hockey stick (1971 Jean Beliveau - $17,500) and Stanley Cup trophy (1957 Jean Beliveau - $42,000).
